Dear Tabby,

I am excited to apply for the Senior Product Manager, Authorization position at Tabby. With over 8 years of experience in product management, I specialize in building secure and scalable systems that enhance user experience and drive business growth. My background in data analysis and automation aligns perfectly with Tabby's mission to transform into a full-scale banking app, where I can contribute to shaping foundational identity infrastructure.

At Resolution, I led the development of over 25 SaaS applications, serving more than 2.5 million users in the first year. This role honed my skills in user authentication and product strategy, ensuring compliance with security standards while enhancing operational efficiency. Additionally, at Wercflow, I scaled the platform to 20,000 users and 2,000 B2B clients, demonstrating my ability to iterate on features that meet market demands and improve user engagement.

I am particularly drawn to this opportunity because of the chance to work on innovative solutions like biometrics and MFA, which are crucial for user security. My experience in defining product vision and leveraging cloud infrastructure will be instrumental in ensuring seamless access across products while aligning with regulations in key markets.

I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my background, skills, and passion for product management can contribute to the success of Tabby's Authorization & Identity team. Thank you for considering my application.

Best,

Isaiah Pegues
